Times Is Awarded Silver Cup For Highest Gain In Advertising During 1954

The Gettysburg Times was awarded the silver cup symbolic of being the daily newspaper in Pennsylvania which during 1954 showed the highest percentage gain in local advertising. The award was made at the mid-winter convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association and the Interstate Advertising Managers Association at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Friday and Saturday.

Further recognition given The Gettysburg Times was the display of seven of its special editions published in 1954 which were considered "outstanding from a standpoint of treatment of the theme-subjects, makeup and advertising copy."

Carl A. Baum, Edgar E. Wolf and C. William Harbaugh represented The Gettysburg Times at the convention. In the presentation it was noted that the Gettysburg Times won the same award in 1952.

Effectiveness Is Cited
In presenting the silver cup, officials of the two associations commented that "increase in lineage is merely a measure" but placed emphasis on "the intangible factors that lead to lineage increases." In this connection it was stated:

"A paramount factor, of course, is the effectiveness and productivity of the advertising columns and this, in turn, is predicated on the character and integrity of the newspaper itself... the completeness of its news coverage, the quality of its reporting and its known position in behalf the public activities of the community."

"Of equal importance is its handling of commercial news by which is meant the integrity of its advertising, its composition, the standard of its commercial news or advertising copy."

"In the case of The Gettysburg Times the basic premises are there in strength. From a news standpoint, the publication maintains consistently high standards and complete coverage plus a vigorous support of the community activities in the entire area it serves."

Paper Commands Respect
"Advertising copy is expertly prepared and mechanical composition is excellent. Displays reflect broad and diversified coverage of the commercial interests in the area."

"Accordingly, the newspaper commands reader respect of a consistently high degree."

"In short, all the required elements are present to enable this newspaper to effectively serve the mutual interests of its readers and its advertisers with the result that its advertising columns reflect the integrity that leads to productivity to the general advantage of all."

"It is of further interest to note that retail sales in the area served by The Gettysburg Times have shown consistent advances. Thus the gains in lineage may be considered natural and sound growth."

REGENT SPEAKS AT LUNCHEON OF DAC SATURDAY

Mrs. Marion House Hobbs, Pottsville, Pa., regent of the Daughters of American Colonists, discussed "The Individual's Responsibility for the Preservation of our Heritage" Saturday at the fifth birthday anniversary luncheon of the Manor of Maske Chapter at the Hotel Gettysburg. Forty-five members, state officers and guests were present.

"Americans definitely have two heritages," she said. "First, we are a Christian nation. This country was founded by godly men adhering to the teachings of Christ. Christ fought for the Brotherhood of Man. We in America follow His example by being sympathetic, kind and generous to other nations. Our American GIs have adopted Korean orphans and established the American-Korean Foundation. But with all our kindness and charity, we are not asked to give up our national sovereignty. There is nothing in the Bible which directs any country to give up its national sovereignty as today's leaders in communism would force other countries to do."

"Must Be On Guard"
"We must be on our guard. Communists play on this idea of 'Brotherhood of Man.'" Even some religious leaders have been duped because Communists play race against race and creed against creed."

"Our second heritage is the privilege of citizenship by birth. We take it for granted. We should use our privilege of voting by ballot, a thing which is impossible behind the Iron Curtain."

DRUM AND BUGLE COMPETITION IS PLANNED HERE

Plans for a Drum and Bugle Corps competition to be held here in August were outlined Sunday at a meeting of the Gettysburg Association of Clubs held at the Eagles lodge. Arrangements were made with the Pen-Mar Circuit of Drum Corps to arrange for the setting up of the competition to be held either Saturday, August 13, or Saturday, August 20.

A final date could not be immediately determined pending further arrangements, but Richard A. Hartman, Hanover, secretary of the Pen-Mar circuit, assured the group one of the dates will be open.

Two Purposes
Pen-Mar will provide judges and accountants and other organizational set-up for the event, with the local group providing the location, runners and a printed program which will give facts about the competing drum corps, the method of scoring and other information permitting spectators to follow the event.

The drum corps competition will have a dual purpose, officers of the association of clubs held. First it is designed to provide an outstanding entertainment here in August—usually a month during which few such special events are held.

Secondly, the association hopes through sale of tickets to raise sufficient funds to pay for the annual Halloween event conducted by the organization and to have some money left over for such organizations as Community Chest.

To Give $2,000 In Prizes
Approximately $2,000 in prizes will be awarded in the drum corps competition, and a number of state and national championship drum corps are expected to participate.

Hartman told the local association of clubs that among the drum corps that can be expected to participate are the Hershey American Legion Choccolaters, the Harrisburg Privateers of Pvt. Earl E. Aurand Post 1986, VFW, Harrisburg; the York American Legion Post; Hanover Post 14, American Legion, and others from Baltimore, Hagerstown and Westminster, as well as Wormleysburg West Shore VFW Post 1462.

President Horace L. Bender presided at the meeting.

40-DAY LENTEN SEASON BEGINS ON WEDNESDAY

Lent, a 40-day period of fast, abstinence and penance, will begin Wednesday, Ash Wednesday, with special services in some churches. Catholic churches will begin special Lenten devotions on that day.

At St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, masses will be said at 6:45 and 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, with the blessing and imposition of ashes at the 8 o'clock service. The first in the series of evening Lenten devotions will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening with rosary, sermon, benediction and imposition of ashes following the service. There will be stations of the Cross Fridays at 2:45 and 7:30 p.m.

The regulations for fast and abstinence for Catholics are as follows:

Abstinence
All those over 7 years of age are bound to observe the law of abstinence.

Complete abstinence is to be observed on Fridays, Ash Wednesday, and on Holy Saturday morning. On days of complete abstinence meat and soup or gravy made from meat may not be used.

Partial abstinence is to be observed on Ember Wednesday and Saturday. On days of partial abstinence meat and soup or gravy made from meat may be taken only once a day at the principal meal.

Fast
All Catholics over 21 and under 59 years of age are bound to observe the law of fast.

The days of fast are the weekdays of Lent and the Ember days. On days of fast only one full meal is allowed. Two other meatless meals, sufficient to maintain strength, may be taken according to each one's needs; but together they should not equal another full meal.

Meat may be taken at the principal meal on a day of fast except on Fridays and Ash Wednesday.

Eating between meals is not permitted; but liquids, including milk and fruit juices, are allowed.

When health or ability to work would be seriously affected, the law does not oblige. In doubt concerning fast or abstinence, a parish priest or confessor should be consulted.

$1,700 DONATED TO HEART DRIVE; QUOTA IS $3,500

The 1955 Heart campaign in Adams County is at the half way mark with donations of $1,700 toward the $3,500 quota.

While expressing satisfaction with the returns so far, which he described as being "about on schedule," C. A. Willis, president of the Adams County Heart Association, urged today that contributions be made promptly so that the heart drive can be concluded this month.

Willis also stated that orders are being placed for new mattresses for such of the hospital beds, located in various sections of the county, that need replacement. He said also that additional beds and bedside commodes are needed as the present complement of 24 are in almost constant use in homes in the county.

"These, of course, must await the successful outcome of the present campaign," he said, "but we have no doubt that the Adams county association will maintain unmarred its several years record of always meeting its goal."

Confident Of Goal
Rev. Charles E. Held, executive vice president and campaign director of the association, has been meeting with various groups in the county and speaking over WGET telling of the program and the accomplishments of the Adams County Heart Association.

He also expressed satisfaction with the progress of the campaign and pointed out that contributions are coming in as anticipated.

"I feel sure we will have our required $3,500 by March 1," he said.

These strides and achievements have taken place in the faculty, the staff, in the general alumni group, and with regard to the college's relations with the church and community. However, we have not made enough progress in the matter of comfortable living quarters. ## "GRANDPARENTS"

The grandparents of my two girls . . . are sweet and loving too . . . and for my little children . . . there is nothing they won't do . . . it seems that they are always quick . . . to grant a small request . . . it matters not how many times . . . sometimes I think they love our girls . . . as much as Mom and I . . . because it hurts them very much . . . to see our children cry . . . I cannot thank them half enough . . . for help that's positive . . . so quick to do and slow to take . . . and eager to forgive . . . at times perhaps they spoil our girls . . . but I can place no blame . . . for if a grandchild came to me . . . I'm sure I'd do the same.

Society Meets

Mrs. Guy McCabe was leader at the February meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Luke's Union Church, near White Hall, held on Friday evening at the church. The devotions opened with group singing of "I Love to Tell the Story" and "I Need Thee Every Hour," accompanied on the piano by Miss Hylda Klinefelter. The Scripture was read and prayer offered by Mrs. McCabe. The topic "Women Workers in Our Church" was discussed by the leader. The topic told of the work of a deaconess in the Reformed Church. The program closed with the Lord's Prayer repeated in union.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Roscoe Klinefelter, president. It was announced that the West Pennsylvania spring rally will be held on May 12 in Mechanicsburg, and the rally concerns life membership. Announcement was also made of the Seventh-Tri-annual Convention of the Central Pennsylvania Synod to be held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Williamsport, on April 28, 29 and 30. A report was heard from Mrs. Parr R. Breighner, secretary.

Mrs. McCabe, chairman of the committee in charge of re-writing the society constitution, read the constitution and its revisions. After a few changes, the re-written constitution was approved and will be reread again at the March meeting. Mrs. Ray V. Reichart was selected to be leader for the next meeting on Friday, March 18, at the church. The session concluded with prayer offered by Miss Hylda Klinefelter.

Ferree LeFevre, a student at the West Chester State Teachers College, spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. LeFevre, E. King St.

FIND 4 BODIES
IN WRECKAGE
OF HUGE LINER

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A search team reported early today it had found four bodies near a huge rock pinnacle in the Sandia Mountains where a Trans World Airliner crashed Saturday with 16 aboard. Word trickled down by walkie-talkie from the mountainside that there was no sign of life in the wreckage.

The airliner rammed the pillar in the rugged snow-covered mountains just minutes after it took off.

Two search teams, weary and stiff after a night in subzero cold on the mountainside, started at dawn probing the crannies around the needle-shaped rock where the plane hit.

Pack animals were started up from the base camp at the foot of the 10,000-foot mountain to bring out the bodies and an air drop was scheduled to deliver equipment for removal of the bodies.

The plane took off from Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, about 15 miles southeast Saturday morning. Three minutes later veteran pilot I. R. Spong, Prairie Village, Kan., radioed all was well. That was the last heard from the twin-engine Martin 404, bound for Santa Fe, 70 miles away, on the first leg of a flight terminating at Baltimore.

The wreckage, on the cliff-rimmed west face of the Sandia Mountains, was spotted by James Bixler, chief pilot for Carco Air Service.

Col. William Gibson of the Air Rescue Service, Denver, hovered in a helicopter within 50 feet of the wreckage hanging atop the 100-foot rock tower. He said it "definitely was the missing aircraft and there was no possibility any survived."

Philadelphia, visited during the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Little, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Brown, W. King St.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Stavelly, Crouse Park, and daughter, Marion, of Baltimore, were dinner guests on Sunday of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fredlund, Harrisburg. Miss Stavelly spent the weekend at the home of her parents.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Dr. Morris of Baltimore delivered his promised "Alpine Lectures" on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, to large and interested audiences. The Dr. possesses unusual capacity for a popular lecturer; and on such a subject, with illustrations drawn from personal observations of those stupendous and sublime scenes, he could not fail in interesting any audience. Judging from the full houses, we should infer that a handsome sum was realized from the lectures. The proceeds go to the embellishment of this cemetery lot purchased by the students of the college and seminary in "Evergreen Cemetery." The lectures proper were preceded by some excellent and judicious suggestions on the subject of cemeteries and their proper regulation.

Today's Talk

I LIKE PEOPLE TOO!
I have just read the interesting life story of a noted American editor, executive editor of the Toledo Blade, Toledo, Ohio. He has called his book, "I Like People." I could appropriately call this Talk, "I Like Patterson," for I have known him intimately as a good friend for a full quarter of a century and more.

There is something very interesting and enlightening about the story of any editor of a great newspaper. If he didn't like people and work in their interest at all times, he wouldn't be a successful editor very long! In a large sense the interests which he serves are those of the people who read his newspaper.

The background of an editor is very important. Grove Patterson not only has always liked people, but he has liked books, art, the world at large, over which he has so extensively travelled, and he is proud to have been born an American. He has always liked contact with people and has long been a noted speaker.

His column "The Way of the World" is widely read because it has always been an intimate account of his thoughts, his travels, and his philosophy of life. For nearly half a century Grove Patterson has kept in close touch with people. They have been his inspiration. As editor-in-chief of the Toledo Blade he has met and known scores of other newspaper men and famous characters all over the world. His book is filled with interesting sidelights and comments on newspapers in general and on people in particular.

This is a good and valuable book for anyone to read, but especially those engaged in newspaper work. It ought to be in every journalism school in the country. Young men and women looking forward to newspaper work can find in this book a mine of useful golden nuggets that they can immediately store away as an investment in ideas from which to draw on in future years.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Dare It In Faith!" Protected, 1955, George Matthews Adams Service.

Just Folks

ORDINARY PLAYER

A perfect game I've never played.
At cribbage luck was never mine
To hold the famous twenty-nine,
With club or diamond, heart or spade
At bridge, although I've tried my best,
An eight spot never I've fished.
At baseball, I must now admit,
When younger I was far from skilled,
I struck out with the bases filled,
I fiddled well, but couldn't hit.
At football—much too frail for that—
Unused, upon the bench I sat.

The finest thrill of golf I knew,
And that like to dwell upon,
One day I made a hole in one!
My total score was ninety-two.
Had luck and poor shot failed to mix,
I might have had a ninety-six.

CORPORATIONS SHOW PROFITS IN LAST YEAR

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The first 422 corporations to report their profits for 1954 show combined net income after taxes 3 per cent higher than in 1953—the much-touted boom year.

Their earnings curve was rising significantly in the final months of last year. Most observers believe the first months of this year are seeing a continuing upswing.

Of the 422 companies, 237 report increased earnings in 1954. But there are 15 reporting they operated at a net loss last year. In 1953 there were only 7 of the 422 in the red ink class.

Big And Small Alike
The 422 early birds include both big and small corporations. They range widely through the industries. But they are only a comparative handful of the total of American corporations, and many of the giants are still to be heard from. Early reports must be considered as only an indication of the trend.

Government guessers look for the final tally—probably in early summer—to show that 1954 ran an almost neck-and-neck race with 1953.

The story was different earlier in the year when the profit curve was dropping. But the last three months of 1954 showed business profits running around 8 per cent ahead of the preceding three months and at the best rate in more than a year.

Feast And Famine
Earnings vary widely, however, from industry to industry.

For some—like aircraft makers and suppliers, cement, electrical equipment, oil, drugs, motors, glass—the year was a feast.

For some—like coal, textiles, carpets, airlines, railroads, farm equipment, meat packing and steel—it had more of the aspects of a famine.

Earnings also vary widely among companies within industries. It was a year of fierce competition between industries and within industries.

Reorganization And FEPC Are Legislative Problems

HARRISBURG (AP)—Both House and Senate were primed for extended debate today—some on FEPC legislation, a long time foe of the other on reorganization—as lawmakers returned to Harrisburg for a two-day session of the General Assembly.

The annual fair employment practices issue, with bipartisan support, is in position for a swift start through the 1955 Legislature—if it can win immediate House approval. Leaders on both sides predict it will.

The governor's reorganization program, remodeled after federal statutes and approved by the Democratic-controlled House, faces a deadlock in the Senate with Democrats and Republicans at odds over how it can be "saved."

The FEPC debate is expected to come over Republican-sponsored amendments designed to add age, sex, political affiliation and other items to the conditions under which job discrimination would be banned. The bill now would prohibit job discrimination because of race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin.

Meet This Afternoon
The House was called to meet at 4:30 p. m., a half an hour after the Senate. The Legislature will remain in session this week only through tomorrow because of the annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn. in Philadelphia tomorrow night. Many lawmakers attend that function yearly.

House leaders have agreed on a consent calendar for Tuesday's meeting—meaning that only routine matters will be acted upon and no controversial legislation will be brought up at all.

"At present I don't think I will be inclined to go along with any amendments (to FEPC)," said speaker H. G. Andrews, Rep. Albert S. Readinger, Democratic floor leader, indicated the Democratic majority will attempt to vote down all suggested amendments and send the bill on its way to the Senate.

The House has approved FEPC legislation in the last two sessions only to have it die in a Senate committee.

Regulate Advertisements
As it stands the bill also would outlaw job advertisements containing mention of race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin. And it would make it illegal to seek information as a prerequisite for employment.

It would establish a five-man commission to police the law and would fix fines of $100 to $500 or up to 30 days in jail or both for violations.

Rep. Joseph P. Risby (R-Allegheny) said last week he would try to include age in the measure.

Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), a long time foe of FEPC legislation, said he would seek to add political affiliation, physical handicap, selective service status and sex to the bill and also would ask the House to remove the penalty provision and clause referring to advertisements.

The reorganization disagreement stems from Republican amendments to the House-approved measure which would require positive legislative action on any suggested reshuffling. The governor's proposal would have any such suggested plan become effective in 30 days in the absence of a negative vote by either House.

Trying To Save Bill
"What we're trying to do is save the bill by making it constitutional," said Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader. "I will object if the Democrats try to re-amend the bill to its original form."

At the same time a report was circulated that the Senate GOP majority might be ready to approve the bill if the Democrats can successfully re-amend it. One senator explained that he personally would not like to see the GOP put in the position of obstructing economies which he administration contends would result from granting the requested reorganization power.

With the continued absence of two GOP senators due to illness the Senate remains evenly split, 24-24. Democrat Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, Senate president, can break the tie on all organizational and procedural matters.

Oppose GOP Change
Democratic leaders contend that with the Republican amendments to the measure it might as well be "thrown in the trash can."

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, hinted last week the Democratic caucus might talk over the possibility of trying to seize temporary control of the Senate with Furman's vote.

Another major legislative issue pending Senate action is a Republican attempt to refund a full two cents a gallon gasoline tax to agricultural users. The present law calls for a 50 per cent refund but Senate Republicans amended the bill.

Over the weekend Rep. Charles C. Smith, GOP House leader, said he is considering asking the House to investigate state contracts issued by Gov. George M. Leader.

The state Chamber of Commerce issued a statement opposing a group of bills before the legislature which would rescind a law exempting machinery from assessment for real estate taxation.

STORM, SNOW POUNDS EUROPE, SINK FREIGHTER

By DAVE MASON
LONDON (AP)—A storm-battered freighter sank in Genoa Harbor today and another was grounded several hours off blizzard-swept Dover as new snows raked Scotland and blanketed Europe.

At Genoa, the 1,417-ton Swedish freighter Nordanland sank with a 600-ton cargo of carbide. Two gaping holes had been torn in her hull by one of the most severe storms to strike the area in years. A rescue vessel had spent 36 hours trying to pump water from the Nordanland to keep her afloat. Her 40-man crew had abandoned ship Saturday night.

The 7,173-ton Italian freighter Monviso crashed onto rocks under the South Foreland cliffs at Dover early today, but tugs wrenched her free at midmorning.

Planes Drop Fodder
Four more inches of snow fell in northern Scotland, already floundering under a thick white blanket from almost continuous storms last week.

Five tons of fodder were dropped in 18 plane flights from Kinloss yesterday in livestock relief missions.

The first train to leave Wick since last Wednesday steamed out of the station this morning, preceded by a snow plow.

Elsewhere in Britain, motorists skidded on icy highways. Sussex and Kent, on the South Coast, reported six to nine inches of snow, with drifts as much as five feet deep.

In London light snow fell this morning, slowing rush hour traffic. The mercury rose above freezing from an overnight low of 25 degrees.

Avalanche In Italy
Avalanches took two more lives in north Italy yesterday, and a rescue team failed to reach 29 workers marooned by snow in the nearby Val Malenco.

Raul Fornari, 57, a skier from Rome, was killed by an avalanche at San Martino di Castrozza while returning to his hotel.

At Venosta Valley a 16-year-old shepherd, Guglielmo Bias, also lost his life under a huge snowslide.

Normal winter weather spread over the rest of Europe following the blustery weekend.

In Berlin, the sun shown on a six-inch snow cover and the temperature was around freezing.

Finland is somewhat smaller than California.

Air Force Men Honor U.S. Marines Who Fought On Iwo

EDITORS: Joe Rosenthal, who as an AP photographer took the classic picture of U.S. Marines raising the flag on Iwo Jima's Mt. Suribachi, returned to the island Saturday for a simple service commemorating the 10th anniversary of the American landing. Rosenthal, now with the San Francisco Chronicle, describes it in the following dispatch.

By JOE ROSENTHAL
IWO JIMA (AP)—Air Force men manning Iwo Jima stood on the heights of Suribachi Saturday morning and paid homage to the Marines living and dead who fought a vicious battle here 10 years ago.

The ceremony was solemn, beautiful and brief.

Clouds cleared, and it was mild weather as on D-day.

Protestant Chaplain Harold D. Jester, Philadelphia, gave the opening invocation.

The island commander, Lt. Gen. Thomas D. White, Pittsburg, Kan., spoke next.

"It's now 9:02 a.m., marking the exact moment when the Marines were hitting the beach you see below," he said.

"Four days later they were standing where we stand raising the American flag. The lives that were sacrificed went to save lives five times their number. From then on the Black Pearl (Iwo) has served as a haven for aircraft and shipping and we are proud to carry on the job the Marines started."

A seaman, an airman and a Marine represented the armed services.

No Marines man Iwo now, but four Marines from the Guam guard detachment were guests. One of them, Cpl. Glenn Beeser, 26, Medford, Okla., a Purple Heart veteran from Korea's Heartbreak Ridge and Bunker Hill, placed a wreath fashioned of local growth on the monument atop the 546-foot volcano.

Taps were played by Airman 2c Christopher Wise, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Volleys were fired by an honor guard of the 64th Air Base Squadron.

Catholic Chaplain Ralph Aschoff, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., closed with benediction.

Then we went down to walk in the sand and the surprising covering of green tall grass and plantings and to think of gallant men.

ton, D. C., was the maid of honor. She wore a steel blue waltz-length gown trimmed with navy blue velvet. She carried a bouquet of assorted spring flowers.

William Ebaugh, Littlestown, a friend of the groom, was the best man. Clarence Schwartz Jr., and R. Kenneth Boyd, Littlestown, served as ushers.

A reception was held at St. Paul's social hall following the ceremony. Afterward the couple left for a honeymoon of unannounced destination. The bride wore a navy blue princess style dress with navy accessories and a beige coat. Upon their return they will make their home at their newly-furnished apartment at 6 Lumber St., Littlestown.

The bride, a graduate of Littlestown High School, is employed by the Littlestown Hardware Foundry Company, Inc., Littlestown. Her husband, a graduate of Littlestown High School also, is employed at Banker's Restaurant, Littlestown. He served three years in the United States Army.

College Dribblers Outclass Bucknell 78-54; Frosh Bow; At Quantico Wednesday

"Hen" Bream's much improved Gettysburg College basketball team chalked up its fourth victory in its last five games by drubbing Bucknell 78-54 at Lewisburg Saturday evening. The victory hiked the Bullets' record to 7-11.

Bill Snyder, Al Teti and Eddie Ferren provided the bulk of the scoring punch for the Bullets with 26, 23 and 16 points, respectively.

Gettysburg drew first blood on a goal by Teti but a pair of fouls by Voorhees and goal by Beatty put Bucknell on top before Teti connected again. Voorhees and Snyder traded goals and then the Bisons went ahead on successive twin-pointers by Beatty and Voorhees. Snyder and Slavitt exchanged shots as Bucknell led 12-8. Bucknell led 13-10 after a little more than five minutes and then the Bullets racked up 12 straight points to lead the remainder of the way.

Take Command
Teti, Ferren, two more goals by Teti, one by Ferren and again Teti, sank shots in that order to make the score 22-13 before Baccelli connected for Bucknell. Midway in the half the count was 22-15.

Bucknell was never a serious contender the rest of the way. At the half the Bullets held a commanding 38-21 advantage.

Early in the last half the Bullets built up a 50-26 through the goal tossing of Teti, Snyder and Ferren. Bucknell spurted somewhat to make the count 57-40 at the midway point.

Bullet reserves started to make their appearance shortly afterwards and they encountered no trouble in holding their opponents well in check.

Gettysburg hit on 32 of 56 shots with Snyder landing 12 of 24, Teti 10 of 16, and Ferren six of 12. The Bisons netted 23 goals on 71 attempts. Dick Hockenbury led the locals in rebounding with 16 and Snyder picked up 11. Gettysburg controlled the board by snaring 56 rebounds to the Bisons' 41.

Frosh Trail Throughout
The Bison freshmen jumped off to a 47-31 led in the first half and went on to defeat the Bullet yearlings 85-76 in the preliminary game. The loss was the seventh in nine outings for Coach Johnny Yorisin's tribe. Bob Walsack led the Bullets with 21 points while John Strizzi looped 31 for Bucknell.

Gettysburg's varsity has two tough assignments this week, playing a return game with the Quantico Marines at Quantico Wednesday and meeting powerful Lafayette at Easton Saturday.

The freshmen play at Mercersburg Academy, Wednesday, and at Hershey Junior College, Saturday.

Frostburg, Latrobe Gets Plans Mixed

FROSTBURG, Md. (AP)—Frostburg State Teachers College and St. Vincent's College of Latrobe, Pa., will try again.

They tried—to play a basketball game—Saturday night. But the St. Vincent's team showed up in Frostburg, about the same time the Frostburg five appeared in Latrobe.

Apparently St. Vincent's got a little mixed up about the schedule. The teams will try again Wednesday—in Latrobe.

4 TOP STARS ON U.S. TRACK TEAM

NEW YORK (AP)—Four world record holders, miler Wes Santee and a solid core of tested Olympians will lead the United States' powerful, 3-man track and field team in the second Pan-American games in Mexico City next month.

"It's an outstanding squad," said Jim Kelly, chairman of the committee of 18 which selected the touring athletes yesterday. It could have won any Olympic games ever held and will do great in Mexico City.

Exactly one-third of the team is made up of servicemen and that doesn't include Santee who goes back into the Marines in June. Servicemen on the squad include Parry O'Brien, the Olympic and world record shotputter; mile Fred Wyatt; 6-10 high jumper Herm Wyratt; sprinter Rod Richards, and Jack Davis, who was second to Harrison Dillard in the '52 Olympics.

Other world record men on the team are Mal Whitfield, the half mile king, Fortune Gordien, the discus thrower, and Bud Heid, the javelin thrower.

In addition to O'Brien, the team includes three other Olympic champs in vaulter Rev. Robert Richards, long distance runner Horace Ashenfelter and Whitfield.

Gettysburg's varsity has two tough assignments this week, playing a return game with the Quantico Marines at Quantico Wednesday and meeting powerful Lafayette at Easton Saturday.

The freshmen play at Mercersburg Academy, Wednesday, and at Hershey Junior College, Saturday.

MINNESOTA TO WIN 1ST TITLE IN 44 YEARS

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press
Exactly 44 years ago, Minnesota won the Western Conference basketball championship. The Gophers haven't finished in undisputed possession of first place since.

This year, unless the roof suddenly falls in on Ossie Cowles' lads, they are going to win the Big Ten chase and go on to the NCAA Tournament.

They have a 9-2 record in league competition compared to 8-2 for second-place Iowa. Tonight they meet weakling Wisconsin in their final road game of the season. This is important because Minnesota hasn't been beaten at home in Minneapolis this year.

14 To Be Decided
While the Gophers are expected to fatten up at the expense of Wisconsin, Iowa and third-place Illinois will go at it and the result probably will kill off any changes of the loser.

With only a couple of weeks to go, the sole conference representative in the NCAA tourney is Idaho State, which won its third straight Rocky Mountain title Saturday by beating Montana State 57-46.

The leaves 14 other league champions still to be decided. Nine "at-large" outfits fill out the tournament. Five—Marquette, Penn State, Canisius, Villanova and San Francisco, the No. 1 team in this week's Associated Press poll—already have been tapped.

NIT Has Eight
The National Invitation Tournament, which has been battling the NCAA for the top independents, has 8 of its 12 teams in the fold—defending champion Holy Cross, Manhattan, Niagara, Dayton, Cincinnati, Louisville, Duquesne and St. Francis of Loretto, Pa. There aren't many more possibilities, but Lafayette and Connecticut might make it, along with the runners-up in a couple of the conferences.

Here is a rundown on the major conference races:
Missouri Valley—First-place St. Louis (6-4) can clinch a tie for the championship Saturday by defeating Tulsa (5-2).

Southern—West Virginia won the regular-season title Saturday with an 83-74 victory over favored George Washington.
Other Top Races
Atlantic Coast—North Carolina State has the championship just about wrapped up. Tournaments March 3 will decide the NCAA representatives in the Atlantic Coast and Southern conferences.

Southeastern—Kentucky (8-2) can move into undisputed possession of first place tonight by disposing of troublesome Vanderbilt (7-4). Alabama is tied with the Wildcats for the lead.

Skyline—Utah could win its first crown since 1944 by getting past Wyoming and Colorado A&M Friday and Saturday.

Pacific Coast Conference—Oregon State has won the Northern Division and UCLA the southern section. Now they meet to decide who gets the NCAA berth.

Ivy League—Penn (10-2) can nail down at least a tie by beating Columbia (7-3) Saturday.

SOUCHAK WINS TEXAS OPEN ON FABULOUS 257

By HAROLD RATLIFF
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Mike Souchak won the $12,500 Texas Open yesterday with a fabulous 257 for 72 holes—2 strokes under anything ever shot before.

The giant from Durham, S. C., completed a fantastic sweep of the records as he romped in with a 6-under-par 65 in the final round. He won the tournament by a smashing 7-stroke margin.

Dressed in blue windbreakers and wearing deer skin gloves, the 27-year-old, 210-pound former Duke University football star laughed at the elements. It was near freezing and Brackenridge Park's soggy 6,400 yards were swept by a raw wind.

Cracked Record
During his four days of shooting, Souchak cracked the nine-hole tournament record of 28 set by Ben Hogan and tied by Toby Lyons and Tommy Bolt, with a 27; shot a 60 to tie the all-time 18-hole record held by Al Borsch, Bill Nary, Ted Kroll and Bolt; and then wound up with that 257 that bettered the 259 set by Byrton Nelson at Seattle in 1945, led by Ben Hogan at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., five years later, and tied again by Chandler Harper in the 1954 Texas Open.

Souchak won $2,200, making his money winnings for the year $3,353.33, seventh among pros.

On To Houston
The golf tour rolled on to Houston where the $30,000 Houston Open starts Thursday over the 7,200-yard Memorial Park course. Souchak said he faced the toughest course with relish.

Freddie Haas, the New Orleans star who plays out of Claremont, Calif., wound up second here with a 264 and $1,500 while Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass.; Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif.; and Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, tied for third with 269s.

Haas started the final round yesterday just two strokes behind but he took a 1-under-par 70. Mayfield had a 69, Littler a 71 and Rosburg a 73. Littler still is the leading money winner of the year by a wide margin as he ticked up $996.66 in the Texas Open. He has earned $9,405.66.

College Basketball
The resurgent Springfield Indians picked up four points over the weekend to deadlock the Pittsburgh Hornets for first place today in the toasty-turvy American Hockey League race.

The Indians edged the Providence Reds 4-3 last night on defenseman Gordie Tottle's 40-foot goal with only 38 seconds to play. Springfield defeated Buffalo Saturday night.

Only one other game was played last night. The Buffalo Bisons, scoring once in each period, turned back the Cleveland Barons 3-1 to break a fourth-place tie with Cleveland.

Three times Springfield came back from one-goal deficits in the first two periods. Walt Atanas and Paul Larivee collected a pair of goals for Providence.

There were 21 penalties handed out in the Buffalo-Cleveland game including ten-minute misconducts to Gaye Stewart, Bison player-coach, and team captain Ed Slovinski.

Lou Jankowski, Dick Gamble and Ken Wharram were the Buffalo marksmen as the Bisons snapped a three-game losing streak.

COLLEGE TANK SQUAD SINKS TEMPLE 46-38

The Gettysburg College swimmers won their fifth victory in six engagements by defeating Temple University here Saturday afternoon 46-38 in a closely contested affair.

An easy win in the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, sewed up the decision for Coach Jim Lentz's mermen.

Three Bullet entries, Chet McLaughlin, Bob Gilchrist and Ted Webster, were the heroes in the triumph. McLaughlin won the 220 and 440 freestyle events and took second place in the 100 freestyle; Gilchrist was second in the 50 freestyle and was the anchor man on the 400 freestyle relay team; Webster gained second place in the 440 and 220 freestyle events and was also a member of the 400 relay outfit. Carl Beck won the diving contest.

Temple's defeat was its eighth in 10 meets.

Georgetown University will be here for another dual meet Wednesday.

Summaries:
300 Medley Relay—Temple (Lou McFadden, Walt Bun, Ed Tarsa), 3:26.1.

FAMILIAR FIVES
IN SCHOLASTIC
CAGE PLAYOFFS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Familiar faces will be in district scholastic basketball playoffs early next month.

Latest defending champion to retain its circuit title is powerful Chester, Dist. 1, defending champion and runnerup for the state crown last year.

Paced by the sharpshooting of center Horace Walker, the Clippers battered a mediocre Upper Darby team Thursday, 70-37, to recapture their Sect. 1 title. Walker scored 20 points during the evening as Chester walked away from the Royals early in the contest. It was the 18th victory for the Clippers against one defeat.

And the odds are that Chester may face its old rival, Yeaton, sometime during the playoffs.

Yeaton, which won the state crown in 1953, stepped into a tie for the Sect. 2 lead with idle Lansdowne-Aldan by defeating Radnor, 49-38. The win makes a playoff for the loop crown likely.

Ridley Twp. Wins

In Sect. 3, perennial contender Ridley Twp. took the loop crown by beating Swarthmore, 60-47, while in the Ches-Mont League undefeated Pottstown moved a step closer to the second half and loop crowns by topping Phoenixville, 73-48. One more win puts the Trojans in district playoffs.

Meanwhile, in Dist. 11 Allentown narrowly skinned by a good Hazleton club, 55-50, to maintain its unbeaten string in the East Penn League.

The Canaries who won the crown last year, must win their game against a so-so Easton quintet next Friday to take the second half and league championships. A loss would throw them into a second-half tie with Bethlehem and necessitate a rugged playoff for the league title before district playoffs begin.

Slatington Beats Catasauqua
Defending Dist. 11 champion Slatington gave itself a long chance to retake the Lehigh Valley Crown by dumping Catasauqua, 88-76. The win moved the Slaters into second place behind undefeated Palmerston in second-half competition.

Palmerston, which now has 22 straight and a new school victory record, meets Catasauqua tomorrow, while the Slaters take on a weak Northampton club.

If the Palmerston Bombers should drop their game to the Cats and

STATE'S DAILY MONEY PICTURE PUZZLE TO ALL

HARRISBURG (P)—There is one fact that keeps muddling the commonwealth's worst financial dilemma in history: No one can tell exactly what the state's financial picture is on any given day.

Both Republican and Democrats are agreed on that. So are outside nonpartisan observers such as the Pennsylvania Economy League and tax experts of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce.

But it's especially the position of Budget Secretary Andrew W. Bradley, a 48-year-old professional accountant who is one of Gov. George M. Leader's principal financial advisors.

"No I'm sorry I don't know what the state's financial picture is today," he told a newsman who put that specific question to him. "Our present system of accounting is a crazy-quilt that must be revised."

Need More Money

The question came in the wake of claims and counter claims on the size of the state deficit variously estimated from 57 million dollars to 89 million dollars.

Former Gov. John S. Fine and his budget secretary, Edward B. Logan, estimated 351 million dollars in new revenue would be required in the biennium starting June 1. Leader says the figure is close to a half billion dollars.

How can two governors differ by more than 100 million dollars? To an outside observer either could be right. But he could never verify it on his own investigation. Here's how Bradley sizes up the problem after sitting in charge of the budget office for one month:

"Let's take some departments and how they handle a simple expenditure—for example paper clips costing the state $5."

Have Different Problems

"One department may deduct the $5 from its appropriation as soon as a purchase order is written. Another department may wait to make that deduction when the purchase order is approved."

"A third department may decide to hold up making the deduction until the paper clips are delivered. A fourth department might even wait until the end of the month to make the deduction."

Although the paper clip analogy may be fictional Bradley insists the different methods of bookkeeping are an actuality among departments.

"Multiply that $5 batch of paper clips into items running into millions of dollars and you have an idea exactly how immense the problem is without a uniform system of accounting," Bradley said.

That's Bradley's immediate objective—establishing a plain simple bookkeeping system that would enable a man to walk from the street into the budget office and find out how much money the commonwealth has on any given day.

together in a downstairs room. In an upstairs bedroom was the body of an unidentified man about 25. Then the search for the wife and daughter began.

4 Murders And Suicide

Police said Demko and the other man had been beaten in the head, apparently with a machinist's hammer found nearby. Demko also had been shot with a .25-caliber pistol. Miller was shot in the chest and his wrists had been slashed.

There was no evidence of a struggle. All window blinds were drawn when police arrived, doors were locked from the inside and fuses had been taken from the main switch box.

Coroner McGee said: "It's definitely a case of four murders and a suicide. It is the worst case of its kind I've ever seen. There were no notes—nothing to indicate the motive."

On Critical List

Rivak was reported on the critical list at Uniontown Hospital from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

"We haven't been able to question Rivak too much," State Police Sgt. H. J. Jaymes said. "His story is that Miller met him as he (Rivak) got off a bus last Saturday night and asked him to go to his home. He said he refused and that Miller fired several shots at him, then disappeared into the night."

Jaymes said that Miller was known as a "flashy dresser" although he had been unemployed recently and was receiving public assistance payments from the state.

Police said the Miller couple had another daughter, Mrs. Alex Goloczky, 27, of Cleveland, Ohio.

DOESN'T WANT TO TIP HAND ON U.S. PLANS

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Ervin (D-N.C.) said Saturday he supports President Eisenhower's decision not to tip the Chinese Communists in advance whether the United States intends to defend Quemoy and the Matsus.

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a Senate Foreign Relations Committee member, said that "if the administration really intends to defend Quemoy and the Matsus, then we should make it very clear to the Chinese Communists."

The two Democrats spoke out in interviews after Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate yesterday continued free world control of these Nationalist-held islands close to the Chinese mainland is part of "a very clear and necessary deterrent to any aggressions by Moscow-supported China."

Smith said subsequently he wished Secretary of State Dulles had been "more specific" in spelling out the same sort of belief in a New York speech last Wednesday. Dulles said then the United States would defend the Chinese coastal islands "as such." But the secretary implied this country would fight if the Communists should try to grab those islands as a jumping off point for conquest of Formosa.

Dulles' stand apparently satisfied Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), who told a San Francisco news conference Friday the secretary had taken a "firm position" on defending Formosa, the nearby Pescadore Islands and "such other areas" as might be considered vital to this defense. Knowland said he thought it now is clear the United States will resist any Red attempt to overrun Quemoy and the Matsus.

Ervin said he supports the administration's stand on Formosa because it follows closely his own view that "you can't satisfy the appetite of a blackmailer by paying him more blackmail."

START PROBE OF STATE GAME, FISH RESOURCES

HARRISBURG (P)—The Legislature's study of Pennsylvania's fish game water and forest resources turns toward the State Department of Forests and Waters next week.

Maurice K. Goddard, new forests and waters secretary, will testify Tuesday at an informal open meeting of the House Conservation and Wild Life Committee.

The committee opened its overall study this week with a hearing on the controversial San Juan rabbit. "After the Forests and Waters Department," said Chairman Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield), "we intend to go into the Fish Commission."

"We will look into how the building of dams can be accelerated for water conservation and other related fish matters," Breth said Goddard will be asked

Millersville Gets Pa. Choral Festival

HARRISBURG (P)—Some 196 high school boys and girls from all over the state will sing in the state choral festival March 17-19 at Millersville High School.

They were selected yesterday by a state chorus selection committee of the Pennsylvania Music Education Assn. The selections followed district competition in nine PMEA districts. John Raymond of the Lafayette College Music Department will conduct the state chorus a Minersville.

STATE ASKS BIDS

HARRISBURG (P)—The State Property and Supplies Department today called for bids March 2 on test borings for the construction of a reservoir for Rockview Penitentiary near Bellefonte. The project is part of the rehabilitation of the water supply system which has been under way for some time.

to present his views on the department he heads and his program on camp leases, water conservation, hunting and fishing potential and forestry management.

Promise Cooperation

Both Goddard and Charles A. French, executive director of the Fish Commission, have promised the committee their cooperation.

Meanwhile, Breth expressed the opinion that the San Juan rabbit problem "will not be solved without new legislation."

The committee was told Tuesday by representatives of the State Game Commission and health and agricultural departments that present law does not give either of them authority to ban the animal.

"The animal is presently outside all departments and laws so we'll probably have to suggest a new one," Breth said. The only suggestion on a solution to the problem received by the committee came from Rep. Albert E. Strauser (R-Columbia) who favored limited two year ban on importation of the animal.

Breth said the committee would meet early next week to make up its mind on the rabbit problem.

The U. S. birthrate in 1954 was 25.2 per thousand people.

Lincoln's Summer White House Is Still Standing

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON (P)—Through the dreary, worry-laden summers of the Civil War President Lincoln did a good deal of his thinking on the porch of a rambling house, set on a hill about four miles from downtown Washington.

The place — Anderson House — still stands on the U. S. Soldiers' Home grounds. The interior is changed. But the outside — with gables, fancy wood-work rails on the porches — is just the way he would remember it.

It is called a "cottage," but it has twelve rooms. And the gables are arranged so that many rooms have three exposures, which was a fine thing in those preair conditioning summer days of 1862-1864.

Stories of the day tell how he rode to town each morning; on a big-gray, affable horse. He usually wore a black coat and a stiff hat.

Protected By Officers

Those days, just as now, the president had to be protected. So he was followed by 25 to 30 cavalry officers with sabres drawn. Records show that he was sometimes irritated by this escort; that the clip-clop of the horses hooves made it hard for him to think.

There was an exciting night in the summer of 1864, when the Confederate cannon could be heard. News arrived that the Southern army was only 10 miles away, and heading for the "Seventh Street Road" which passed right by Anderson cottage.

Secretary of war Edwin M. Stanton dispatched a carriage from downtown, and ordered Lincoln to return to the White House. Lincoln was reluctant, and later, when he reached downtown, records show that he was downright irritated to find that a small naval vessel was waiting in the Potomac River to take him to greater safety.

Anderson house is most famous for the fact that Lincoln wrote the Emancipation Proclamation in his big, upstairs bedroom looking down across the fields to the twinkling lights of the then small capital city.

His letters show that he wrote it first in July, 1862. But the Northern armies had been running into bad luck. His Cabinet felt the proclamation should wait for a victory.

The victory came at the battle of Antietam, September, 1862. Lincoln again talked the proclamation over with his Cabinet, and then released it to press reporters.

Now the four-mile ride from the White House to Anderson House could be done in 15 minutes. Then the horse back ride was taken through a good many tree-covered, unlit lanes. Legend has it that Lincoln was fired on once on the road. Another story, less frequently mentioned, says that he took the road alone one time at midnight.

Wrote To Greeley

It was during this time that he wrote a famous letter to Horace Greeley about the purposes for which he was working:

"If there be those who would not save the Union unless at the same time they could destroy slavery I don't agree with them. My paramount object is to save the Union. If I could save the Union by freeing all the slaves I would do it. If I could free some and leave others alone, and thus save the Union, I would do that. What I do regarding slavery I do because I believe it will help save the Union."

Many Favor Streamlining Hunting License System

By DICK HOENIG
HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Game Commission, legislative leaders and organized sportsmen are on record today as favoring the streamlining of Pennsylvania's hunting license system.

Eighteen officials met yesterday and approved a resolution "looking with favor" upon the idea of establishing a permanent registration and central issuing agency along the lines of the system used for motor vehicle operator's permits.

The plan would exclude any sort of hunters examination or firearms registration.

Rep. Harris G. Breth (D-Clearfield), chairman of the House Conservation and Wildlife Committee, who attended the meeting said the plan could save the state between $125,000 and $150,000 yearly—and at the same time cost the hunter less after the first year.

Seek Legislation

The group decided to appoint a committee to continue a study of the plan and to "see what kind of legislation might be introduced in the General Assembly to carry out the plan if it proves feasible," Breth added.

At present hunting licenses are sold by the state Revenue Department through more than 1,850 authorized issuing agents who collect a 15 cent fee on each license. The agents are usually located at sporting goods and hardware stores. Licenses also may be bought from county treasurers or direct from the Revenue Department in Harrisburg. The total sale of licenses for the 12-month license period from Sept. 1, 1953, to Aug. 31, 1954, was $90,366. Resident permits cost $15 and non-resident licenses $20.

Permanent Registration

The suggested plan would provide for the central license issuance and permanent registration by the Revenue Department. This is how it would work as discussed by the group:

Hunters buying 1955-56 licenses in September would be given an application for next year's license. Two months before the 1955-56 license expires the Revenue Department would mail application forms from a master list prepared by IBM machinery. The first year the fee would remain $15 with the 15 cents being used to cover the cost of the necessary individual mailing address plate. After that, the charged would be $3.00.

Nelson E. Slaybaugh, Game Commission comptroller, told the group that for 1953-54 the cost of issuing licenses totaled $214,000 which includes $138,689 in fees paid the issuing agent by the hunter. The cost of licenses, tags, shipping, printed forms and salaries amounted to $75,000 of that sum.

May Cost $75,000

Slaybaugh estimated the proposed system, eliminating the 1,850 agents, would cost $75,000 a year after it is once established.

Other benefits of the system as discussed yesterday: It would eliminate possible favoritism in selection of issuing agents; it would make a securing a license with a false name or address on an application more difficult than at present; it would eliminate non-residents illegally securing resident licenses.

Representing the organized sportsmen of Pennsylvania were Ray Armstrong, Guy Mills, president; and Charles A. Neff, Allentown, secretary, of the 185,000 member Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

"The plan expressed the intent of previous stands taken by the federation," said Neff. "But we have never acted upon this specific plan which will come before our March convention."

Others present included Ellwood E. Dussinger who handles Game Commission matters for the Revenue Department; Benjamin F. Moyer, Lebanon, president of the Isaac Walton League of Pennsylvania; Dr. Robert Koehler, Johnstown, legislative representative of the federation; John Sullivan, state deputy attorney general assigned to the commission, and commissioners Nicholas Biddle, Bethayres, John Herman, Dauphin; and Tom L. McDowell, Bradford.

WRECKAGE OF PLANE SIGHTED

VIGNA DI VALLE, Italy (AP)—The wreckage of a Belgian Sabena airliner that crashed eight days ago with 29 aboard including four Americans was reported sighted today by pilots of a search plane and helicopter in the snow-covered Apennines of central Italy.

A plane from Vigna di Valle Air Rescue Center reported sighting the wreckage of the plane on the Sassatelli crest, at an altitude of 6,600 feet on Mt. Terminillo, about 60 miles northeast of Rome. Carabinieri and police set out immediately on skis for the scene of the crash. There was virtually no chance any of the 21 passengers and eight crewmen could still be alive.

The area where the wreckage was sighted is rugged and wild. Fog and storms prevented search adequately until today.

The airliner—a DC6—was heard Sunday night, Feb. 13, a few minutes before it was scheduled to land at Rome's Ciampino Airport. It was on a regular flight from Brussels to the Belgian Congo.

Because Aedes Aegypti mosquitoes are still common in the southern third of the United States, the threat of a yellow fever epidemic still exists there, says the World Health Organization.

the Iron Curtain. One thing I would stress in our own group is that we must work hard for the passage of the Bricker Amendment, to prevent a treaty from ever superseding the Constitution. We should use our individual powers while we still have them. Even a militant minority can work wonders. We must preserve our heritage and the freedom so dearly won by our courageous ancestors." Mrs. Hobbs was introduced by Miss Margaret McMillan, regent of the Manor of Maske.

Mrs. Roy E. Zinn, chaplain, gave the invocation.

Miss McMillan gave a resume of the organization since it was founded February 21, 1950, with 17 members. The late Mrs. C. E. Bilheimer was the organizing regent. There are now 42 members in the chapter. One of the projects completed is the placing of two markers on U. S. Route 30 marking the Manor of Maske boundary lines. The chapter will give an American flag to the Gettysburg High School. The assembly pledged allegiance to the flag and sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

Miss McMillan introduced Mrs. Ralph J. Miller, Shenandoah, honorary vice president of the national society, who congratulated the chapter on the "attainments of five years."

"We feel," said Mrs. Miller, "that the society will stand first for good in the country to carry on the traditions of four forefathers. We hope that it will continue to carry out their aims of freedom of religion, freedom of the press and freedom of speech." Officers, members and guests were introduced.

The local chapter presented a check to Mrs. Hobbs in memory of the late Mrs. Bilheimer for the fund being raised to build a national headquarters. Mrs. Guy Wolf was introduced as the newest member of the chapter.

Mrs. Schwenk Sings

Mrs. James E. Schwenk, Gettysburg, soloist, sang "I Believe" and "God Bless America." She was accompanied at the piano by her sister, Mrs. Fred Mumma. The national colors blue and gold were used in the dining-room decorations and menu. Miss McMillan cut a three-tiered birthday cake frosted in blue and gold. On the speakers' table were vases of blue iris and yellow daffodils. The guests of honor wore corsages of yellow carnations tied with blue ribbons and each guest received a yellow crepe paper rose filled with yellow mints as a souvenir. Mrs. Hobbs presented the chapter with a large blue and gold candle to burn at future gatherings. Other officers present included: Mrs. Helen Denny Howard, Waynesburg, first state vice regent; Mrs. George J. Walz, Harrisburg, second state vice regent; Mrs. William C. Langston, York, state recording secretary, and Mrs. Robert F. Jones, state treasurer.

Others introduced were: Mrs. Anthony F. Sterner, Hanover, regent of the Digges Choice Chapter and five members: Mrs. Byron R. McClung, Stewartstown, regent of the Barrens Chapter; Mrs. James Sutcliffe, York, regent of the Warrington Meeting Chapter, and Miss Mary Walker, Chambersburg, regent of the Rocky Springs Chapter and two members.

SCHOLARSHIP TO HONOR DEAN

Creation of a scholarship fund in honor of Dr. Walter Harrison Hitchler, dean of Dickinson School of Law for 48 years before his retirement a year ago, was announced Saturday night as the highlight of a banquet in the retired dean's honor, held in the Dickinson College Gymnasium, Carlisle.

Five hundred and fifty persons, the majority of them lawyers and their wives, attended the dinner. Included were 10 present or former judges.

Announcement of the scholarship fund was made by Judge W. C. Sheely, of Gettysburg, president of the board of trustees of the law school and toastmaster at the banquet.

The scholarship fund, which Judge Sheely said would grow from year to year, is "to perpetuate the inspiration and influence" of the former dean with the students who studied under him. Its proceeds will go to exceptional and worthy students at the law school.

Unveil Portrait

Also unveiled at the banquet was a portrait of the dean, done by P. W. Muncy, of Bethel, Pa., who was among the guests at the event.

Presentation of the portrait, which will hang in the law school building, was made by Harry Lee, Reading attorney, who is vice president of the board of trustees of the school. Justice John S. Arnold, of the State

SAY WIRING CAUSED BLAZE
HARRISBURG (AP)—A general alarm fire—first on Capitol Hill in 25 years—that damaged a temporary wooden state building was caused by defective electrical wiring, state police fire investigators report.
The fire Friday night struck temporary building No. 5, 100 yards from the main capitol. The 2-story structure is used by the Property and Supplies Department as a utility building and houses the capitol electricians, plumbers, painters, upholsterers, and typewriter service men. There are no offices in the building.
Sgt. Jack Arms and Cpl. Marshall Kimbark of the fire marshal's office said the flames followed the electric system through the building. No estimate was made on the cost of the damage to the 27-year-old building, one of five immediately behind the main capitol.
Earl Genseler, superintendent of grounds and buildings, said an inventory of material in the building must be taken before the damage cost could be estimated.
Two firemen were injured fighting the blaze. Gov. George M. Leader and his wife were in his office when the fire broke out.
The last general alarm fire on Capitol Hill was on Oct. 1, 1930 when the nearly completed forum of the State Education Building was struck by fire.

COMMY, U.S. EXPERTS WANT CORN INCREASE

By J. R. TRIPLET
NEW YORK (AP)—A half a world apart, Nikita S. Khrushchev and Prof. Morell B. Russell see eye to eye on one thing — farmers could grow a lot more corn if they tended it better.

Khrushchev is the Soviet Communist party boss who gave the United States some unexpected praise last month. He acclaimed American farmers' methods of growing corn and ordered Russian peasants to emulate them.

Russell heads the agronomy department of the University of Illinois, a state which alone produces more than three times as much corn as all the Soviet Union. He told a gathering of soil specialists in Chicago Thursday that Midwestern corn yields could average 85 bushels an acre, instead of the present 50, if farmers used improved soil management practices and got good growing weather.

Corn Pops Up

Yes sir, corn is popping up a lot in the news lately. In Latin America, for example, where the silky ear is a staple of the human diet — you heard that Salvadoreans want only white corn for their tortillas? No yellow, red, black or spotted. That was brought out in Vice President Richard Nixon's good will visit Wednesday to El Salvador, smallest and most populous of the Central American republics.

It seems the people's preference for white cornmeal for their thin flat cakes is slowing a U.S.-Salvadorian agricultural school program to increase corn production. But the yield, once less than 10 bushels to the acre, is now up to about 17. There's a corn problem too in Guatemala, which threw out a Communist-supported government last June. The cost of living has been sky-high there this winter and a big shortage of corn is predicted.

Banana Leaves Used
Incidentally, the Guatemalans don't wrap their tamales in corn shucks, as do the Mexicans. They use banana leaves.

Cornbread and corn-on-the-cob lovers notwithstanding, most of the three billion-odd bushels of corn grown annually in the United States is fed to livestock.

Likewise in Russia, though cornbread gets a big hand in Soviet Georgia, Stalin's native state, and you can now buy quick-frozen corn-on-the-cob in Moscow.

The line of distinction between sweet and field corn is not finely drawn in Russia, where the land devoted to the American import amounts to only 3.3 per cent of the total grain crop acreage. Wheat is the big crop. The 8,800,000 acres the Russians planted to corn last year produced a total of 150 million bushels. That about ties El Salvador's 17-bushels-to-the-acre average.

Short Growing Season
A short growing season throughout the north is one of the reasons for the Soviet lag. Ask Americans who have tried to grow corn in Moscow gardens. A map will show why.

Moscow lies at the latitude of Hudson Bay's Belcher Island — 600 miles north of the United States.

In 10 Days Gardeners All Over U.S.A. Will Be Busy

Among the 75 or more "weeks" now more or less publicized in this country, why is there no "National Garden Week"?

The answer to this question is found in the sun, whose rays move north and south over the surface of the globe, bringing the changing temperatures and varying lengths of day which cause the four seasons.

In the United States, planting time starts in Florida two months earlier than in Minnesota, so there is no single week which could be celebrated as the beginning of the outdoor garden season throughout the country.

To wake up gardeners throughout America, the American Horticultural Council is sponsoring an alarm clock schedule that will begin sounding in the south and follow the sun as it travels northward, thawing out the ground, and releasing the energies which winter has kept locked up.

On the basis of U. S. Department of Agriculture records the country is divided into zones, in each of which the average date of the last killing frost in spring is approximately the same.

One month before this date is selected as the time for "Planting Time" in that zone. Seeds of hardy frontier. And even in northern parts of the United States, early frost sometimes strikes corn before it is matured.

But Khrushchev wants a try anyway at increasing Russia's corn acreage eight times by 1960.

"In fodder our performance is much below that of the United States," he said. "... We also don't fertilize or lands sufficiently. In this we are below the standards of many capitalist countries."

varieties may be sown; hardy plants may be transplanted; tender varieties may be started under protection, and merchants of garden goods should make these available to their customers.

Since it is considered impractical to divide a state into several zones, each state has been considered as a unit, and assigned a date for the beginning of "Planting Time" which represents the average climate of the whole state, although it may not be exactly right for either the earliest or latest sections of the state area. The dates assigned to the various states on this basis are as follows:

January 1 — Florida.
February 1 — Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas.

February 15 — Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Oregon, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia.

March 1 — Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

The Men's Garden clubs of America, National Garden Writers' Association, and many other horticultural organizations have endorsed the Planting Time program and urge that all home gardeners join in observing it.

Tag, hide-and-seek and blind-man's buff are children's games which are known all over the world, says the National Geographic Society.

TWO KILLED IN SUB BLAST; 3 ARE MISSING

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two sailors were killed and three were missing and presumed dead in a battery explosion and fire aboard the submarine Pomodon at San Francisco Naval Shipyard last night.

Four other sailors were injured seriously and two civilian rescue workers were hospitalized after inhaling poisonous gases. One of the Navy injured underwent surgery at Oak Knoll Hospital.

Only a few sailors were reported aboard at the time of the blast. Normal complement of this Snorkel submarine is about 85 officers and men.

The Navy identified one of the injured crewmen as Seaman Bobbie D. Pulliam. He was burned on the face and arm.

Withheld Some Names
The civilian workers, taken to Marine Memorial Hospital, were identified as Howard F. Swift, 36, South San Francisco, and Robert E. Williams, 24, Oakland, Calif. All other names were withheld. Two lesser explosions shook the gas-filled forward section of the submarine early today—four hours after the initial blast—and workers were pulled off the ship.

LT. Austin R. Doyle, a 12th Naval District public information officer, said the Navy will postpone search operations until the Pomodon's batteries discharge and the vessel is cleared of poisonous hydrogen gas. He said "it may be tomorrow or next week" before search is resumed.

The fire after the initial blast was extinguished quickly by civilian workers and sailors from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and the submarine Catfish.

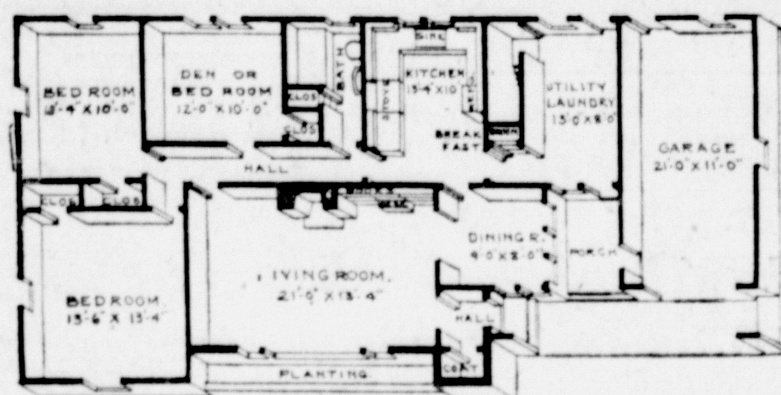

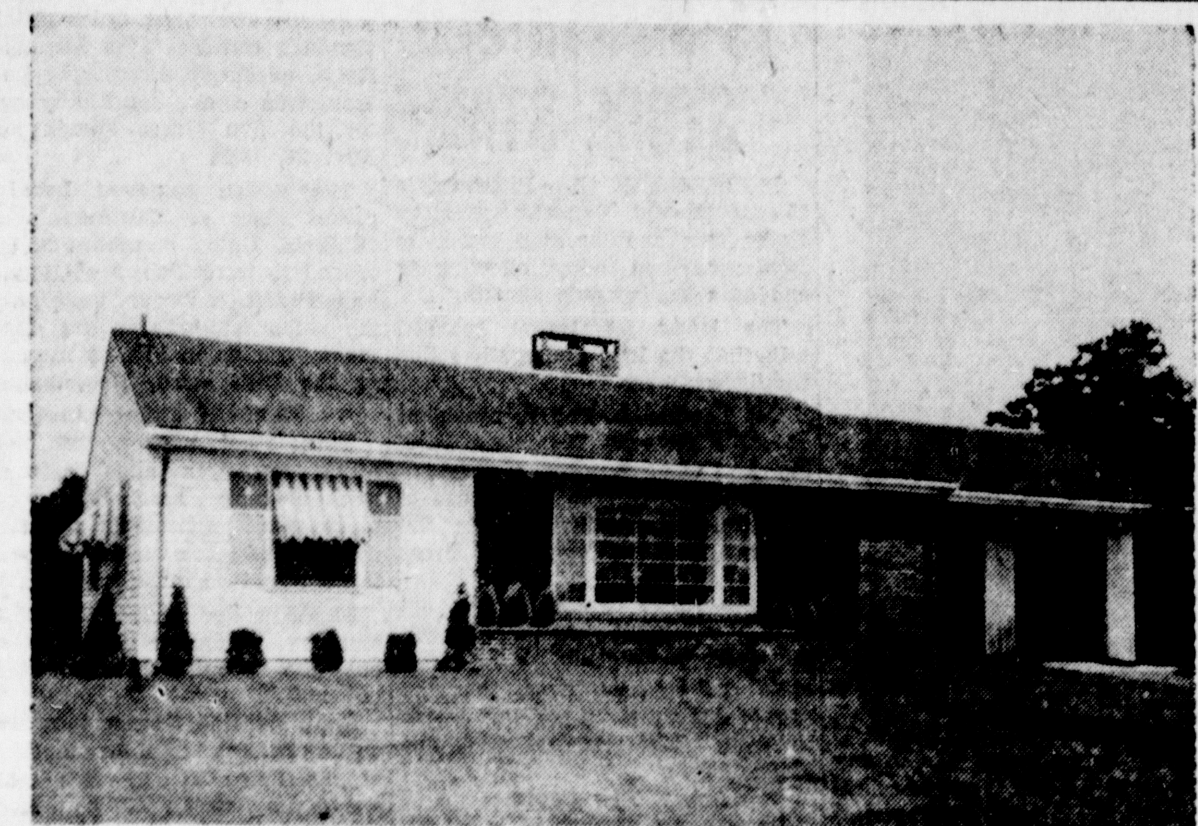

The first explosion ripped the forward battery room where batteries were being charged preparatory to giving the Pomodon her first sea trial today after 4½ months of overhaul.

GROWING BOY

OMAHA (AP)—A Benson High School physical education instructor noticed one of the boys showering without bothering to remove street shoes and stockings.

"How come?" asked the instructor. The youth replied: "I'm in a hurry to get to lunch."

The action of a hurricane is similar to that of a tornado, but the hurricane is much larger.

Rooms	Seven
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Six
Cubage:
House	25,000 ft.
Garage	3,600 ft.
Dimensions	63' x 30'

Thoroughly modern and unusually charming both inside and out, "The Paris," today's presentation from the Home of the Week Plan Service, contains seven good-sized rooms including two regular bedrooms plus an optional room which can be used as a den, bedroom or guest room.

Measuring 63' x 30', "The Paris" will require at least a 90-foot lot. Cubage of the house proper is 25,000 feet; cubage of the garage is 3,600 feet. The architectural charms of this house will be most effectively emphasized if "The Paris" is placed a good distance back from the road. Be sure to select a site where you can reap full scenic benefits from the beautiful large picture window in the front living room wall.

Plantings in front of the living room add to the exterior charm of "The Paris," as well as to the decorative appeal of the living room. Take into consideration both the picture window and the plantings in selecting the interior decoration of the living room as well as in planning the arrangement of the furniture.

Small, but well lighted and pleasant, the dining room is just across the central hallway from the kitchen so that serving meals in this room will be as convenient as possible. If you prefer a dining room of larger area than designated in the accompanying plan you can make the adjoining porch smaller in area and utilize this space for the dining room.

In the kitchen itself, there is a breakfast nook which you'll make good use of for many family meals and between-meal snacks, as well as for breakfast. The rest of the kitchen is planned strictly as a work center with all appliances within easy reach of the busy homemaker.

Because of the generous amount of closet space provided throughout "The Paris" the family which lives in this attractive modern home should have no trouble keeping everything in its place. The basement will also provide extra storage area as will the garage; the latter is especially well suited for overhead storage of screens, etc.

All bedrooms, including the optional one, are well lighted and ventilated. The abundance of windows throughout "The Paris" helps to make this house both cheerful and pleasant.

For convenience the laundry is located on the first floor of "The Paris"; a first floor location for the laundry is high on the "must list" of most housewives. The only required installation in the basement is the heating plant, which should be installed under the living room.

August Robles Slain Sunday In Gun Battle With 200 Policemen

NEW YORK (AP)—The long crime career of squint-eyed August Robles, sworn enemy of the law, ended in death yesterday after a blazing, 90-minute gun battle with police.

The pint-sized gunman had been the object of an intense, three-day manhunt in the city's Puerto Rican districts.

Police, rankled by the memory of his two escapes Friday, were determined to get their man.

Trapped Near Park Avenue

The elusive desperado was at last tracked down in a third-floor tenement hideaway on 112th Street near Park Avenue.

Two hundred policemen surrounded the shabby building and pumped machine-gun, rifle and pistol bullets and tear gas into Robles' lair. He answered their challenges to surrender with gunshots.

At one point tear gas caused a fire in the embattled four-room apartment. Firemen turned streams of water into the building to quench the blaze even before the shooting ended.

Finally there were no more answering shots.

In Blood On Floor

Police gingerly entered the charred apartment, still reeking of acrid gunpowder and tear gas. A priest went with them to administer last rites.

On the floor, in a pool of blood and water, lay Robles, who had sworn he would never be taken alive. Blood oozed from a ragged chest wound. A rough tourniquet had been tied around his left arm, pierced by another bullet.

He was barefoot and clad only in trousers and an undershirt. A woman's slipper and children's toys were on the floor beside him. A bright-eyed doll perched on a chest above.

Police were tipped to Robles' hideaway yesterday afternoon. Swarms of officers were deployed on nearby rooftops, in neighboring buildings, doorways, cellars and fire escapes.

Wanted In Slaying

When all was ready, three policemen went to Robles' door and shoved it open. There was a blast of shots from inside and two policemen were wounded. The battle was on.

Found beside Robles' body were four revolvers, three of which he had taken from policemen who first tried to arrest him early Friday. His escape touched off the manhunt.

Later he eluded four detectives in a Harlem housing project.

Police originally went out to arrest Robles to question him about the gangland slaying of ex-convict Joseph Aronowitz in Brooklyn last Tuesday.

American Automobile Association

The recently opened ferry service from Key West, Florida, to Cuba appeared at first to open new travel vistas for the average American motorist.

It sounded inviting and adventurous to be able to cover Cuba's highlights and sidelights with one's own car.

But after completing a round trip crossing abroad the "City of Key West," and spending two and a half weeks as a motorist in Cuba, my initial enthusiasm has rather waned. And I suspect that anyone considering the journey as part of his winter vacation would benefit from my experience.

The ferry, a converted LST, leaves from Key West each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning, for Cardenas, a Cuban seaport 14 miles from Veradero Beach and about 100 miles east of Havana. It has a capacity of 40 automobiles and 250 passengers. Round trip fare for car and driver is $62.28, plus $16.50 for each additional passenger.

Learned Hard Way

As my wife and I, and some 80 other passengers, learned the hard way, an LST rolls in the slightest of turbulence. On leaving the calm coastal waters and heading into the open channel, the roll and pitch became progressively worse with the result that, only an hour out of Key West, all but 10 of the passengers were very ill.

Unfortunately, despite such conveniences aboard as an air-conditioned restaurant and lounge, there was to be no relief for the duration of the voyage, which lasted an even 12 hours. The "City of Key West" simply was tossed around like a cork in a washing machine.

Cuba Charming, Colorful

In fairness to the ferry service, I should add that: 1. I understand this was the vessel's roughest crossing; 2. On the return voyage, which took three hours less, the water was calm, although there was a certain amount of roll inherent in the design of the craft; 3. The operator is reported planning to replace the LST with a larger, speedier and more comfortable vessel.

As for Cuba itself, I found it to be a charming, colorful and fascinating vacation destination. However, outside of Havana and Veradero, accommodations are, with few exceptions, too far below American standards to be acceptable to the average visitor from our country. Distances between the key points of interest are long and tiring and, for the most part, the motorist must carry his own food and water supply.

While there are some fine attractions in Santiago, it takes an uncomfortable 600-mile drive over largely uninteresting terrain to reach there. A car is not really needed at Havana or Veradero and can be more of a liability than an asset.

Motoring in Cuba presents an assortment of challenging problems. The Cubans, though not fast drivers, are somewhat unpredictable. Cuban cities have few traffic lights and practically no stop signs as we know them. The procedure for passing through an intersection is simple: Blow your horn on the approach; if you hear no others in answer, plow on through!

"Blind Intersections"

This practice can be nerve-wracking at the many blind intersections, with the constant din of horn blowing. Both on the open highway and in the villages the motorist must be cautious of livestock, animal drawn vehicles, bicycles and pedestrians. Road surfaces, at best, would be considered only second class by American standards and many sections are rough and full of chuck holes.

The new ferry marks the first step toward a proposed motor route to Central America via the Atlantic Caribbean branch of the Pan American Highway, which eventually will include extended ferry service from Cuba to the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico. For the present, however, most visitors will get

SEE BREAK IN 15-MONTH-OLD STORE STRIKE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh's 15-month-old department store strike was another step closer to total settlement today following the end of a key union's dispute.

The latest agreement sparked talk that the long and costly strike finally was over.

But Thomas L. Fagan, president of AFL General Teamsters Local 249 and chairman of a strategy committee made up of leaders of 12 AFL unions involved in the walkout, told the Associated Press last night:

"The strike definitely is not over. No delivery trucks will operate Monday."

He did say, however, that the agreement is a "significant move to bring about termination of this long dispute."

Accept New Contract

Some 400 members of Local 29, AFL Building Service Employees, voted yesterday to accept a new maximum employment from a Cuban visit by using available public air and surface transportation.

contract giving them a five-cent hourly pay raise and other benefits. Wage scales were not disclosed.

Shortly afterward, union officials signed a contract with Samuel R. Robb, executive director of Labor Standards Assn., bargaining agent for the five stores struck since Nov. 27, 1953.

The action removed Local 29 picket lines at Kaufmann's and Gimbels. Union members had returned to work Feb. 9 at Horne's, and Frank & Seder under what the union said was an oral agreement. The union has no members at the fifth store, Rosenbaum's.

Maintain Picket Lines

Three other unions—retail clerks, office employees and restaurant workers—have been maintaining picket lines at Gimbels and Kaufmann's and there was no indication these would be lifted immediately.

Fagan called a meeting of the strategy committee today to discuss the "problems of these three unions."

Robb notified Fagan that work would be available for members of his union at the five stores but he emphasized that no delivery trucks would roll unless they rolled at all five.

GOP WAS TURNED INWARD FOR THIS LINCOLN DAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans repeatedly pick this time of year—before and after Lincoln's Birthday—to make some of their harshest speeches against the Democrats. This year some Republicans turned on other Republicans.

In his 1950 Lincoln Day speech, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) hit a new high, or a new low, depending on where you sit, with his shotgun charges that the State Department was loaded with Communists.

Other Lincoln Day speakers that year—especially the late Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry (R-Neb.) and Sen. Ives (R-NY)—said President Truman and his "Fair Deal" were heading the country straight into socialism.

1951 Oratory

Came 1951. McCarthy called for the firing of Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Wherry accused Truman of trying to "usurp" the powers of Congress. Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho) said he was worried about the threat of "political dictatorship" and Sen. Malone (R-Nev.) cracked at the then Gen. Eisenhower for recommending troops for Europe.

McCarthy in 1952 made a charge, which petered out, that one of Truman's economic advisers had been invited to join the Communist party. That was a presidential election year and some of the candidates made Lincoln Day speeches.

The late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) urged unleashing Chiang Kai-shek against Red China; California's Gov. Earl Warren, now chief justice of the United States, said the nation was "depressed by confusion and fear"; and Harold E. Stassen, now chief of the Foreign Operations Administration, spoke against Truman "misrule."

A Quiet Year

Republican orators were comparatively quiet in 1953, Eisenhower's first White House year. They made up for it in 1954 when McCarthy and Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) accused the Democrats of being the "party of treason."

But in 1955 McCarthy, rebuked in 1954 by Senate Democrats and Eisenhower Republicans, aimed at Eisenhower by condemning a "retreat" around Formosa. The scorching year was the attack on Eisenhower by Utah's Gov. J. Bracken Lee.

Lee said the nation had gone further to the left under Eisenhower than in any two years in history and even suggested a third party might be necessary.

Last week Eisenhower, while watching Speaker Rayburn (D-ex) save his lower-lariff program for slaughter in the House and after seeing Sen. George (D-Ga.) lead the fight to give him a free hand around Formosa, said:

The Republicans shouldn't lose their "balance of values.... Our greatest enemy is the Communists, not the Democrats." As if answering the charge he was turning left, Eisenhower said he considers his administration to be one of "dynamic conservatism."

Refinery Workman Packs Water Pistol

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Any guy you might see packing a toy water pistol in a 17 million dollar refinery at Billings isn't a misplaced television cowboy. He's checking on steam pipes and the toy's a tool.

The refinery is laced with miles of pipe, including high pressure steam pipes with temperatures up to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. That's hot enough to cook a roast. It often is necessary to know if a steam line or trap contains live steam.

At first refinerymen

JEALOUS LOVER KILLS 3, THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

ATLANTA (AP)—A jealous lover shot and killed a former Georgia legislator, a Tennessee shoe salesman and the woman he was dating and then committed suicide last night.

Another woman was injured seriously in the wild burst of gunfire which broke up a gay party in a northeast Atlanta home.

One of the victims was identified as John Verlyn Booth, 49, member of the Georgia House of Representatives from 1934 to 1938 and onetime Fulton County (Atlanta) campaign manager for Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga) when Russell ran for governor. Booth was divorced.

Had Target Pistol Police Capt. E. O. Mullins and Homicide Detective Lt. L. T. Bullard identified the jealous man as Alton Nix Treadway, 45, an Atlanta electrical engineer.

The other dead were listed as: Mrs. Ella Warren, 39, in whose one-story brick bungalow the

Says Low Grades Mean Rock Shower

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An Oklahoma City Junior High School teacher, Earl E. Stewart, 45, told police a group of students drove past his home and hurled rocks. "It has happened before," he said. "Every time I give certain students low grades someone throws rocks at my house." He said that if he could identify any of the rock throwers he would take care of the situation.

Shot In Head, Stomach The injured woman was Mrs. Anna Padgett Cone, a widow employed at Chattanooga. She suffered bullet wounds in the head and stomach and cuts about the head.

Capt. Mullins said Treadway had been dating Mrs. Warren and recently purchased an engagement ring for her.

Mrs. Cone, the sole survivor, told police she was in bed when Treadway burst into the room. She said he hit her on the head with a gun, banged her about and then shot her. She fled to a neighbor's house.

Hummingbirds beat their wings as much as 200 times a second.
